
Re: Mean Green put away TSU @ SM

Posted by scrappy - 2006/11/26 10:47

I had family obligations last night, so I wasn't able to go. I was real concerned, when I read the halftime score was so close. Obviously, something changed in the 2nd half.

I think we should all treat this team like Parcels does Romo. That is, don't shower them with praise just yet - there is a LOT to go.

=====

Re: Mean Green put away TSU @ SM

Posted by Evan - 2006/11/26 17:32

The first half reminded me of the UTA game, in which our guys kinda just seemed to think they could cruise to an easy win, except UTA was much more talented and had much better athletes. But I guess JJ reminded them they would have to actually play basketball to get the win, and the second half was good for the most part. But this was a game in which we should have won by 30 points.

=====