
Adam Choplik

I saw Adrian Choplik at the last football game.

He said his son Adam is a legitimate 6-7 now and still growing. He thinks the Denton Ryan Junior son might have Mid-Major BB talent.

It looks like Adam's future is in baseball, however. He played on a local select team this summer for a time, before joining a Philadelphia Phillies amateur team that travelled all over the country.

Adam is already hearing from BCS baseball programs and from Major League teams. The left-handed pitcher registers a consistent 88-89 on the radar gun and throws strikes.
