

---

Any new targets

Posted by CMJ - 2010/03/25 00:12

---

The JJ to Auburn watch is over, so time to get back to normal. JJ and co. were still recruiting even during the flirtation with AU. So, any word on anyone new we might be looking at?

Cooley?

=====

Re:Any new targets

Posted by TheTastyGreek - 2010/03/25 00:20

---

Signing period starts in 20 days (April 14th).

Early signing for next year starts on November 10th and ends on the 17th.

Should be interesting.

=====

Re:Any new targets

Posted by Cooley - 2010/03/25 01:35

---

The irony of the selection of UTEP's coach over JJ could free up Miners signee John Bohannon. The 6-10 F/C from Lancaster averaged a triple-double in the recent state tournament. (20 boards and near upset of Yates)

I have no idea who's coming to Denton. I hope we sign the "best player" instead of worrying if it's a juco or high schooler. I am not the greatest JJ supporter; mainly because of some wasted offers. I think there remains a huge talent gap between us and the Kstates of the world. He needs to stay and complete the job.

We have a chance to overhaul and upgrade the entire roster for 2011-2012. I would patiently sit and wait for the best transfers available. These guys should run the table in the Sunbelt and make UNT more attractive where we then can sign better HS kids.

=====

Re:Any new targets

Posted by CMJ - 2010/03/25 09:24

---

Yeah, I know you've never been much of a Jones guy because of what you see as a lack of talent Cooley. But doesn't just about every school I can think of has "wasted offers"(at least in hindsight)? Hell, even the UCLA's and Duke's of the world get duds.

But especially schools, like ours, outside the Power 6 - since we tend to be take some chances. They may or may not pan out.

=====

Re:Any new targets

Posted by NT03 - 2010/03/25 21:32

---

Donald Williams

Signed with Kentucky in 2008

Currently @ Antelope Valley JC by way of Baton Rouge, LA

=====

---

Re:Any new targets

Posted by CMJ - 2010/03/25 22:55

---

This sounds like a fantastic kid.

=====

Re:Any new targets

Posted by TheTastyGreek - 2010/03/25 22:58

---

CMJ wrote:

This sounds like a fantastic kid.

Sounds like a Kentucky-caliber Tristan Thompson.

=====

Re:Any new targets

Posted by CMJ - 2010/03/25 23:51

---

When someone finds his stats, post them.

=====

Re:Any new targets

Posted by TheTastyGreek - 2010/03/26 00:36

---

I put the stats up on GMG. Here's a repost:

Hmmm... This guy seems like he'd be a perfect fit for Troy. All outside shooting, loves the 3 pointer, doesn't seem to drive or get to the line very much.

17.13 ppg, 1.87 rpg. Shot fewer than 3 free throws per game, with a 66.3% free throw rate. Shot 187 3-pointers on the year (almost 6 and a quarter per game), hitting 34.8%.

Missed one game, played more than a few off the bench as a big 6th man scoring presence.

If he came here, it'd be a culture shift for him. If he was used as an Adam McCoy-type offensive spark on the bench (where we don't have to rely on him if he's having an off night shooting, like his 1-for-9 3 point shooting night), he could be an amazing weapon.

He'd have to adjust his game if he wanted to get a lot of minutes in our system. And I think, considering his jump shooting and streakiness, that he'd frustrate the hell out of a lot of our fans. We'd hear the "jacking up 3's" complaints all over again.

=====

Re:Any new targets

Posted by CMJ - 2010/03/26 09:07

---

Yeah dude, I'm sorry...I posted that right around the time you dug them up for GMG. I agree with you concerns about frequency of shooting the 3, but I still feel this kid is worth keeping an eye on.

=====